The believer considers the world to be a continuous, arranged and compatible collection, which has not come into being on its own; on the contrary it is created by the wise and powerful creator and it is him that manages it. The world with the series of precise laws and stable system has its source in the wisdom and intention of the Almighty Allah, who controls guards.

In belief of the faithful, the greatest being, who is known as 'Allah' has created this world and it is him that administers it and that he is wise, powerful, merciful and eternal. According to the man of belief, Allah is the source of all goodness and perfection.

Although man in his middle age, has the strength to work and make effort and to fulfill the daily needs of his old age, success in this matter depends on correct use of his youth.
